

Dear Parents,

Well, this is it! The last newsletter I will write as your kiddos teacher. How quickly our time has come and gone. We have made so many memories together over the last 2 (for some, 3) years. The relationships and companionship we have developed throughout our time together is some that I will always find extra special. Who knew that I would have inherited 7 more kids of my own? We know so much about each other... all of our strengths and weaknesses, what makes us happy or sad, (they know what makes me happy and pleased, and what turns my smile into a frown from time to time). It's been such a great experience with this group and I'm going to always hold a special place in my heart for each of them from now on. I will give out lots of hugs and even some kisses this week as we wrap up our time together. I want them to know how special they are and I how much I am looking forward to watching them grow academically, physically and spiritually through the years ahead as God directs our paths.

Thank you all for being such wonderful, generous, and supportive parents. You shared your babies with me and trusted me to lay the groundwork for that most important academic foundation.

On another note, this week we will wrap up some chapter reviews and math facts, plus clean out desks and lockers. Its going to be a fast final week!
