

Captain Redcoat, the Giant and the Shark

St. Bruno Pre-K 2014-2015

Writing Prompt by Chateau Meddybemps-Young Writers Workshop

Captain Redcoat looked far out to sea through his telescope. There he saw a shark in the water! Captain Redcoat was so afraid of being eaten by the shark, that he ran away, jumped in his bed and pulled the covers over his head. Luckily, when he got in his bed, he found a big bowl of strawberries so he ate them all up.

Captain Redcoat wasn't feeling as scared anymore so he decided to go play at the playground. While he was playing, a gingerbread man made out of sand came along, Captain Redcoat thought the gingerbread man looked very delicious and was about ready to gobble him up when suddenly a giant, who was eating fruit snacks, came down from the clouds. The giant's name was George and he loved to read books as he ate his fruit snacks. George was so busy reading, that he didn't notice a large tree was about to fall right on him! Amazingly, Captain Redcoat found enough strength to lift the tree right off of George the Giant.

After Captain Redcoat removed the tree from George, he knew it was time to face his fear and head back to the sea. Before he left, George wanted to show the captain just how happy and thankful he was that he freed him from the tree, so he decided to buy him an ice cream cone and some cookies. This gave Captain Redcoat an idea! After the captain said "good-bye" to the giant, he took his ice-cream and cookies and boarded a plane to fly back to the sea. When Captain Redcoat returned to the sea, he found the shark and shared his ice-cream cone and cookies with it. The shark now had a full belly, and Captain Redcoat was no longer afraid of being eaten by it and they all became the best of friends from that day on!
